Q4 2025 Fund Commentary

Commentary and opinions are provided by Canada Life Asset Management.

Market commentary

Asia-Pacific equity markets had mixed performance over the fourth quarter of 2025. The South Korean market advanced to multi-week and record highs, supported by strong information technology earnings, sustained demand for semiconductors and artificial intelligence (AI)-related exports. Chinese equities lagged because of slower economic momentum and ongoing policy uncertainty.

Equity markets across Southeast Asia and India showed broadly positive performance. India remained a regional standout, supported by resilient domestic demand and investor confidence in its long-term structural growth. Southeast Asian countries, such as Vietnam and Indonesia, benefited from improving exporting conditions.

U.S.-China relations remained stable but cautious, characterized by selective engagement amid ongoing strategic rivalry. While both countries signalled a willingness to prevent further economic escalation, tensions persisted around technology control, supply chain security and geopolitical issues.

Performance

The Fund's overweight exposures to SK Square Co. Ltd. and SK Hynix Inc. contributed to performance. The stocks of these companies benefited from momentum in the AI space. Underweight exposure to Samsung Electronics Co. Ltd. detracted from performance, as did holdings in Alibaba Group Holding Ltd. and JD.com Inc. Alibaba Group Holding was challenged by softer earnings and slower revenue growth. JD.com saw slowing sales growth and increased regulatory scrutiny.

At the sector level, exposure to the financials, information technology and materials sectors contributed to the Fund's performance. Exposure to the energy, industrials and communication services sectors detracted from performance.

Portfolio activity

The sub-advisor reduced the Fund's holding in SK Square to realize gains following strong share price performance.

Outlook

The sub-advisor's outlook for Asia-Pacific equities is optimistic, supported by easing global monetary conditions and resilient domestic demand. Growth in technology, AI and supply chain sectors should also support markets. Taiwan and South Korea are likely to benefit from sustained semiconductor investment, while India and Southeast Asia should benefit from structural growth drivers and improving corporate earnings. China's recovery is dependent on the effectiveness of policy support, confidence stabilization and geopolitical risks.

Overall, the sub-advisor believes that Asia-Pacific markets are well-positioned for growth in 2026. However, the sub-advisor will monitor potential risks, including geopolitical developments and currency fluctuations, which could impact market performance.
